KRUSTÁ dedicates this program to the music of John Cage, a long-time collaborator with dance. This dynamic, small, electro-acoustical new music/modern dance ensemble was founded in 2003 by renowned choreographer and dancer Elina Mooney; percussionist Douglas Nottingham; and pianist and new-music specialist, Madeline Williamson. KRUSTÁ is an ad hoc company utilizing different artists—both dancers and musicians—dependent upon the repertoire being performed. Dancer Candace Ammerman, pianist Andria Fennig, percussionist Brett Reed and technologist Eric Schultz have been regular artists with KRUSTÁ since its inception and are all appearing this evening, along with Nottingham. Dancers Andrew Marcus, Keira Hart, Christiana Lederman, and Kathryn Richards are performing for their first time with KRUSTÁ and are joined by returning KRUSTÁ artist Renee Waters (Celebration, 2003)

This unique new music/dance ensemble was formed specifically to perform the rich repertoire of contemporary works written for piano(s), percussion, and digital applications. Whenever possible, KRUSTÁ is committed to perpetuating the live performance of music with the original choreography of Mooney in order to create an encompassing interaction between dancer/musician/audience. In certain instances, however, pre-recorded music is also utilized (this evening’s Return).

Technical and Lighting Director for KRUSTÁ is Mark Ammerman; Costume Designers are Galina Mihaleva and Jacqueline Benard; and Sound Design is by Doug Nottingham and Bill Swayze. Eric Schultz contributes electronics for Credo In U.S. In addition to engagements at other venues throughout the country, KRUSTÁ is especially looking forward to their performance at the Santa Fe New Music Festival series later in 2006. For further information on the ensemble, repertoire, performance availability, and each of the individual artists, please visit krustaensemble.org or contact the Artistic Director at Madeline.Williainson@asu.edu.
