"The Light in Girlish Eyes."

Lyric by RAYMOND W. PECK.

Music by
ROBERT HOOD BOWERS.

Andantino grazioso.

They say there
"At times one is a light in

girlish eyes so bright, that throws its

love-ning
can't de-tect a spark of in-tel-lect
in girlish

eyes that

droop,

rays

In-to each man-ly heart and there it plays a part, in

But lat-ter on, they blaze at one sweet word of praise, and many different ways; it even may reflect that fairly "loop the loop" no wonder hearts in grief are she is quite correct the daintiest of girls, but oh! the wrecked on Bright-eyes Reef" as wildly they pursue The luring

va-ried beams, as many, so it seems as there are shades of curls.
phantom light that always shines so bright in eyes of every hue.
The

colla voce

REFRAIN.
Valse moderato.

light that lies in girlish eyes is but an idle

The Light, etc. 3
dream__ And to the wise it just implies Love's Jack - O - Lan - tern gleam__ None ever knew it's meaning true but here's the right surmise__ The light that lies in girl - ish eyes is the only light that lies.

The Light, etc. 3