widow who's loving and lone;
love that I profess, won't somebody offer secution as warm as my own?
be so good and true and take such care of you.
for the one whom I promised to wed; way to our marriage, jumped out of the carriage; His come, now admit it. I think we should hit it, I've wife had objected, he said.
what am I to do? I've bought my trousseau, too.
don't look so annoyed, you should be overjoyed.

So,
Chorus. \( p \) (2nd \( ff \))

How would you like to have to love me? How would you fancy that idea? How would you like to clasp me tightly to your breast, And whisper sweet things in my ear? How would you like to have to kiss me? Wouldn't my charms appeal to you?
If there's any fellow present who believes he'd like to kiss me, will he answer "Goo?"

1. How would you Goo?"

2. Goo."
