

Dear Lady Augusta,

I can't tell you how it vexes me that I seem to have as little chance of getting in time to Westminster on Wednesday as I had last Friday--- When I found it impossible to leave the place when I was pre-engaged. Tomorrow I dine in a still more remote quarter: if I can profit by a lucky opportunity, be sure I will do so; otherwise, you must understand my regret, and forgive me.

Very sincerely, Dear Lady Augusta,

Yours ever
