Shame, Shame, Shame.
(Everybody Knows Your Name.)

By HERBERT DE PIERCE & TIEDEMANN & BARBER.

It was just after three, all the kids romped with glee. And the boys Susie blushed to her hair, Billy said, "Sue don't care." Then he called played tag, While the girls jumped the rope, and some stood on the May Brown, Saying, "You leave Sue be, or you'll answer to sloped, While they played bean bag, Just then one little Miss saw Bill me, Don't you call her down, 'Cause it was just yester-day we all

Copyright, 1909, by Great Eastern Music Publishers, 1421 Broadway N.Y.
International Copyright and Performing Rights Secured and Reserved.
kiss Susie Bliss, As they sat a side, Then she said, "Oh say saw you and Ray, Neath the ivy vine, Yes you know it is Sue, what I know a bout you, and then she cried.

true, you were kiss ing him too, at re ccess time.

Chorus.

Shame! Shame! Shame! Everybody

knows your name, We saw him kiss you, you

Shame, Shame, Shame.
kissed him back, Don't say you didn't we heard the smack,

Shame! Shame! Shame! And we know he's not to blame,

He only kissed you 'cause you dared him to, So Shame! Shame! Shame! Shame! Shame!

Shame, Shame, Shame.