"Is the Girl You Married Still the Girl You Love."

Lyric by WILL M. HOUGH

Music by VICTOR HOLLANDER

Moderato

Allegretto

Love is dreamily alluring, When at last you find your Honeymoons won't shine forever, Though at first you vow they own; Love you vow will be enduring, Through the will; For, in spite of all endeavor, You can't 7854-3-1

Copyright MCMXII by Jos. W. Stern & Co.
British Copyright Secured.
Although Theatre and Music, all rights strictly reserved.
Depositado conforme a la ley de Republica Mexicana.
en el año MCMXII por Jos. W. Stern y Cia., Propietarios Nueva York y Mexico.
years for her alone; But the world goes on and make the world stand still; Oh, it's then that trusting love's sweet Spring-time too, may fade away; Is the love you once were hearts are broken, Through the empty years; While the honeymoon is loving Still the love you love today? shining through the rainbow of your tears.

CHORUS

Is the girl you married Still the girl you love? — __ Is she still the only one you're dreaming of? — __ Then the world's a dear world, Golden skies above,— If the girl you married is still the girl you love.— love.