(I should worry)

Words by

Moderato

Once I lost a pal, and a gal, you know how.
When you're down and out, nev-er shout, I'm all in

Didn't tell my pal, that the gal was my frau.
How I cried and groaned,
Always leave a doubt, move about with a grin
If you moan and sigh,

How I sighed and moaned,
But I'm o-ver it now, Be-lieve me.
Friends will pass you by,
They won't loan you a pin, Be-lieve me.
CHORUS

I never care or worry Ich gab-bib-le, Ich gab-bib-le, Ich gab-bib-le, Ich gab-bib-le,
I never care or worry Ich gab-bib-le, Ich gab-bib-le, Ich gab-bib-le, Ich gab-bib-le

When a friend says "I'm feeling blue,"
I don't need wealth,
When a friend says his room-rents due
I leave it all to the board of health,

When a friend says "I'm feeling blue,"
I don't need wealth,
When a friend says his room-rents due
I leave it all to the board of health,

When a friend says "I'm feeling blue,"
I don't need wealth,

clothes are torn, And show my in-dig-na-tion like Sep-tem-ber Morn

Isch gab-ble I should worry, Not not me.
Isch gab-ble I should worry, Not not me.

Isch Gabibble 9
Extra catch lines for end of chorus

I should worry if my clothes are torn
I didn't have a stitch of clothes when I was born

I should worry if I lose a friend
The undertaker always nails you in the end

I should worry if I sink or float
I bought my girl a brand new satin petticoat

I should worry what they say bout me
You know I can't afford to lose my dignity

I should worry just to give and lend
A goat has got a scent that he can never spend

I should worry if I get the chills
I'll take a box of Carter's little liver pills

I should worry and take paris green
When creme de mint is sweeter and don't act so mean

I should worry if my clothes are torn
And show my indignation like September morn.
