Sung by Julia Sanderson, Donald Brian and Joseph Cawthorne.

The Land Of "Let's Pretend"

Words by
HARRY B. SMITH.

Music by JEROME KERN.

Moderato.

Piano.

To-night we take you for awhile, By the lure of song and smile, And lilt of care-less laugh-ter,

Far from thought of work a-day, Where the only work is play, With not a thought thereafter,

(Prologue) So
(Epilogue) You've

Andante.

Follow our lead 'Tis but a puppet
Followed us through our little puppet

506-3 The Land Of etc.
show, The songs and smiles, the laugh that beguiles, are play, With song and jest, we've all done our best, to nonsense we know. Forget all the pass time away. The wisest of world, Let Folly be your friend. Come men, Find Folly a good friend. And follow, follow one and all to the Land of "Let's Pretend"; children young and old delight in the Land of "Let's Pretend".

5056-9 The Land Of etc.