They Start the Victrola
(And Go Dancing Around the Floor)

Words by GRANT CLARKE
Allegro Moderato

MAURICE ABRAHAMS

Till ready

Sometimes he doesn't roll

full dress and gown, home un-till three,
Who used to go to the parties in town,
She sits there waiting as mad as can be,

But he got jealous of all the fellows,
Then grab his collar, and starts in to holler,
She looked so pretty, they kept Guess you're forgetting that you're crowding around. He said I'll fool them, Ha, Ha, with a laugh, no longer free. She says now dearie, you're wasting your lies,

He went and bought her a cute phonograph. With that Victrola home, cut out that innocent look in your eyes. Just like a silly goose,

They never have to roam, First he gets her all alone.
He hasn't one excuse, Then they both say what's the use.

CHORUS

Then they start the Victrola, the little Victrola, And up comes the rug from the floor, At no more parties are they to be found, He likes to have her where no one's around. That's why he bought the Victrola, the little Victrola. They never go out any more,

And after dancing she's all out of breath,

He loves to take her and hug her to death, Then they start the Victrola, the little Victrola, And go dancing around the floor. Then they...
