Moderato

Maud is the child of a Fox-trot mother, Father tangoes too.
Men come around of ev'ry station, Doctors, Dukes and Earls.

Got six aunts and a rag-time brother, Dancing's all they do.
Filled to the top with admiration, For this Queen of girls.

they could win her with their knowledge and their great renown.

Millionaires in crowds compete, And lay their fortunes at her feet, But Told her what her talents were, And all that they could do for her, But

Maud just stares, when they popped,
And asks those millionaires.
Maud asked them while she hopped.
