The boys and girls declare they've missed me When one has led the simple life too greatly, long, boys, The bright lights seem bad for the eyes, I happily have been rather lately But I've decided find the glare and glitter rather strong, boys, And yet I like them, now to go it strong. I'll raise the dace with reck-less fun and much to my sur-prise. Sub-urb-an days and nights are just mon-jol-li-ty, In ev-ry ca-ba-ret I'll soon be ot-o-ny, No more for me this "fast a-sleep by stung; I'll show the mer-ry Bou-le-vard my qual-i-ty, nine;" Re-grets for qui-et joys, I have-nt got an-y, Af-ter all one on-ly once is young. Dan-ces, shows and two A. M. for mine!

CHORUS

Come a-long and join my par-ty! Come a-long, —the well-come's heart-y! We will meet you, greet you, never a frown._ We'll rol-lic and we'll fro-lic 'round the town. Come a-long and join my par-ty!

Come Along And etc. A
Come along — I'm Mister Smarty! Everyday fancy drink we'll try, Where's the high-ball that's too high? Come along I've the call now, I pay for all now, Come along with me, I buy! buy! D.C.
