Beautiful Queen Of The Nile.

Lyric by JOHN L. GOLDEN.

Music by RAYMOND HUBBELL.

Moderato.

Piano.

The sphinx has been silent for thousands of years, And When An- to- ny came with his thousands of men To guarded the secrets of Egypt right well, But if it would speak, what Egypt to rule them, a conqueror brave, The Siren, she would and sub-stories of tears And tales of sweet love it could tell!

For

Copyright MCMXVII by John L. Golden, Raymond Hubbell & R. H. Burnsida, N. Y.
All Rights Reserved. International Copyright Secured.
here in its shadow a wondrous love came, A soldier and siren a he who had ruled over Caesar himself, For fair Cleopatra was tent for their home, The queen of the Nile, Cleopatra, her name And lowly and mean, Gave up claim for fame, for power or pelf, To Anthony, bravest of Rome. He sued her and wooed her o'er love and be loved by his Queen. And swains of to-day sing the desert and ocean, And this was his song of devotion, same old love story That Antony sang in his glory.

Refrain.
Moderato.

Queen of the Nile, you've made my life well worth while.

Somehow some way, some time and some day I'll pray that I'll win your smile.

For 4 Beautiful Queen Of The Nile.
my crown I gave To be your own humble slave

Here dear with you on this isle My beautiful Queen of the Nile

Nile