1. (Loo) A girl in love does not need words to say so to a man. For love has a language quite a help, for each means something I am told A rose may say, I

2. (Loo) Then flow'r's are of its own (Men) Can she learn it? (Loo) She can. (Men) Would he love you, dear? (Men) Yes, we know, but that's old. Can't you un-der-stand it? (Loo) Whol (Men) Why the chap she's talk-ing to. If she tell us some-thing new? (Loo) That's an eas-y thing to do. (Men) For the did - n't say a thing, We don't see how he could. (Loo) It's an lan-guage of the flow-ers has been o- ver-done (Loo) Jew-els eas- y thing to do! (Men) It's an eas-y thing to do.

have their lan-guage too. (Men) Jew-els have their lan-guage too.

Allegretto

If ev-ry day, he reads the mes-sage, he sees in her eyes,
If ev-ry day, he sends her dia-monds or pearls on a string.
If, when he gazes fondly in them she droops them and If, ev’ry day, she gets a pendant or bracelet or sighs.

Then he will know she loves him dearly; What ring.
Then she will know how very deeply in

e’er may fall.
So, now you understand why
love, he must be.
When people love each other words are not needed, at all.

words are not needed, you see.
