There Seems To Be Something About You.

Lyric by DARL. McC. DOYLE.

Allegretto.

Music by WALTER L. ROSEMONT.

I've been around, and I have found a lot of girls sincere,
I never knew a girl like you could mean so much to me,
For those who make me guess,
When I'm all alone,
And keep me in distress,
I only sit and moan.

Those who make me guess,
When I'm all alone,
And keep me in distress,
Have

Tho' ev'ry day that you're away Is like eternity,
I

Refrain.

You know there seems to be something about you, There's a look in your eyes That softly whispers a warning to doubt you,

"You're in danger," it cries. But my poor heart, in scorning every warning,

Sighs, and then replies: "You know there seems to be something about you,

Oh, that look in your eyes!" You know there eyes!"
