Home again from over there; True and tried they march with pride 'Neath the flag of the U. S. A.

Every manly heart is warm

For the boys in uniform, And the girls in admiration

Throng to cheer them on their way.
Refrain

ev'ry boy in blue,

You can take my word I would not miss The boys in khaki, too. It may not be right for a girl to fight, But the modest little lamb, At a happy time like this, She could spare a little kiss For the dapper boys of
