If You Do-What You Do

By ROY TURK,
Louv Handman & EDDIE CANTOR

Moderato

Don't need rings, Don't need clothes, Don't need money, goodness knows,

All I need is lovin' of the first-class A. You can't imagine how you rave, how you brag, All day long you chew the rag, 'Bout the way that you can kiss, You'd better lend your ear to this now:

Chorus

If you do—what you do,—Half as good as you say you do,—You'd better start in your kiss-in,'Cause that's what I've been missin' so,—

Believe me, if you are,—what you are,—

That's if you're what you say you are,—You can bet your life I'm never gonna let you go.—I'm blue and all alone—
And only love can cure me. In one that must be shown,

Because I'm from Missouri,

So honey, if you do, what you do, half as good as you say you do, I'll tell you what to do, Better start in lovin' me now! now!
