You Never Can Blame A Girl For Dreaming

Words by
OSCAR HAMMERSTEIN, II
and OTTO HARBACH
Moderato

Music by
HERBERT STOTHART
& VINCENT YOUMANS

Piano

When I try to catch a moon

beam
Some-how it will al-ways melt a-way

But in dreams a-lone Bright moon-
Refrain (Liltingly)

You can never blame a girl for dreaming.

Gleaming, every little...
Dreamer keeps a secret in her heart
As every star must keep its light apart

So let the little dreamer keep on scheming
Making this old world seem bright and new

You can never blame a girl for dreaming, dreaming, For she knows that may be some dream may some day be true!

true!

6759-4 You Never Can Blame A Girl etc.