BY THE SAD SEA WAVES.

Word by Lester Barrett.

Music by Lester Thomas.

Moderato.

1. In the glorious summer season, ev’ry body takes a trip To the sea-side; for enjoyment, on the sands they gayly skip; Married show’d his fond affection, took her driving ev’ry day. By his join his yacht at Brighton, she to join her papa too; They a-

Copyright 1868 by Francis, Day & Hunter.

English copyright secured.
men with wives and children, single Johnnies, on the mash; Pretty tone he seemed a marquis, she had jew-cis in ga-lore; So they agreed to write each other Bil-let Doudlets ev'ry day, And when girls who seek for hus-bands, who have pock-ets full of cash. formed a love-en-gage-ment, as they stroll'd a-long the shore: he'd his man-sion rea-dy, they'd be mar-ried right a-way.

CHORUS.

1. By the sad sea waves, where the la-dies are so charming; By the 2. By the sad sea waves, ev'-ry night he took her strolling; By the 3. From the sad sea waves back to bus'-ness, in the morning; From the sad sea waves, in the glorious summer time, With their sad sea waves he would swear his heart was gone! She's the sad sea waves, to his humble "five a week!" In a fetching smiles and dresses, rosy lips and golden tresses, Shady on - ly girl he sings to, she's the girl he says nice things to, Promised cook-shop he goes dashing who should bring his plate of hash in, But the nooks and sly ca - ress - es, by the sad sea waves! Lovely diamond rings to, by the sad sea waves! Girl he had been mash - ing by the sad sea waves! By the sad sea waves.

By the sad sea waves.

3