1. Take advice from Peter Stuyvesant, the ruler of the Dutch; There
2. Nearly all the ills that worry us are shadows of a day. Just may be wiser men than I, but not so very much. If turn your smile upon them, and they'll quickly fade away. Any troubles thick assail you, you can dodge 'em if you try. Just man who looks for trouble always finds it in a trice. But light your pipe and take a smoke and let the world go by.

Ice is cheap. Refrig-er-ate, re-mem ber Pete's ad-vice.

REFRAIN.

Never let yourself be wor-ried, or hur-ried, or flur-ried.
If you do,you'll soon be buried. Care will only kill a fool.

If the trials of life beset you, or fret you, I'll bet you

That the hoo-doo never get you If you just keep cool.
